

ILLICIT SEX AND THE CHURCH

The Church teaches illicit SEX! Understanding God's Word, especially the Apostle Paul, is essential for what we believe and therefore, how we live our lives. Once saved, does it matter if we sin? "Illicit SEX" is an acronym for Sunday, Easter and Xmas, days which Jesus and Paul never taught, let alone kept. We have two major problems here. One, there isn't a single Scripture authorizing any of those days in the New Testament, and two, if Jesus is our Example in all matters of faith and practice, and Jesus is the same today as He was 2,000 years ago in Israel (Heb. 13:8; cf. Mt. 2:20-21), don't you find it a little strange that Christians are not imitating Jesus in their lifestyle? Jesus kept the 7th day Sabbath and the Feasts of Israel, and so did Paul (cf. Acts 14:42, 44; 15:21; 1st Cor. 5:6-8). When did it change, and who changed it? It certainly isn't in the New Testament, despite a phrase like, we're "not under the Law," which pastors heretically misinterpret. Did Jesus do away with the Sabbath and the Feasts by "fulfilling them"? Can I now rob banks because Jesus fulfilled the commandment not to steal? "Fulfill" does not mean "do away with" (cf. Mt. 5:17-19; Luke 44:24; Rev. 14:12).

In 64 AD, 34 years after the Resurrection, Luke, a Gentile, writes the only divinely inspired historical account of the Apostolic Church. Christianity today says that the Feasts of Israel were "done away with at the death of Jesus and He freed us from the Law" (where the Feasts of Israel are commanded by God to be kept), yet Luke writes Acts to another Gentile Christian, Theophilus (Acts 1:1) and Luke uses 6 Feasts of Israel as Time Markers to tell Theophilus when an event occurred (e.g. the Feast of Unleavened Bread in Acts 20:6). If the Feasts were not valid for Christians, Luke would never have used them, and certainly not as Time Markers. Either the Book of Acts is right, or the Church is right. They both can't be right because they are diametrically opposed to one another concerning the Feasts of Israel, which are part of Mosaic Law. Simply put, the Feasts of Israel in Acts prove that Mosaic Law was God's Way to walk out faith in His Son for both Jewish and Gentile Christians. It's the tradition of the Church that nullifies God's Word in this area of Christian lifestyle.¹

A Time Marker is something that everyone knows and can be used "as a marker" to tell someone when something happened or will happen. For instance, if I were to invite you to lunch "the day after Xmas," I wouldn't have to tell you, Dec. 26th because you know that Xmas is Dec. 25th. I've used Xmas as a Time Marker. Luke does this 6 times with the Feasts of Israel in the 28 chapters of Acts, which breaks down to one Feast of Israel as a Time Marker every 4 chapters. That's incredible. This cannot be "explained away" by pastors and theologians who refuse to see what's written in God's Word. Luke never even mentions Easter or Xmas, let alone that any Christians kept it, and Luke writes Acts in 64 AD, more than 30 years after the Resurrection. The Book of Acts reveals that all Christians were keeping the Feasts in 64 AD, which means that Mosaic Law had not been "done away with at the Cross." "Sunday" is mentioned only twice after the Resurrection in all the New Testament, but never once does Luke, or anyone else, say, "Sunday has replaced the Sabbath," something we'd expect as Israel had been keeping the Sabbath for more than 14 centuries. Did Sunday become "the new day of worship and assembly," but no one spoke of it? Of course not (cf. Gen. 2:1-3; Ex. 20:8-11; Mark 2:27-28; Heb. 4:9; 10:25).

Christians have been deceived by the Roman Catholic Church and her anti-Mosaic Law theology. There isn't any Scripture in the New Testament that justifies the keeping of any of Rome's Days and Ways (i.e. Sunday, Easter or Xmas, which also includes the eating of unclean animals; see Law 102 in note 1 as it deals with Jesus allegedly "declaring all foods clean" [Mark 7:19], and Peter's Vision in Acts 10, etc.). Neither Jesus nor any of His Apostles ever walked in, or even spoke of walking in, any of the things of

It was Pope Sixtus in 120 AD who changed Sabbath to Sunday, and the Feasts of Israel to Easter, and authorized the eating of unclean animals, like pig, and who threw out Mosaic Law as God's Christian lifestyle. illicit SEX. Jesus is our Example in all matters of faith and practice (what most churches rightly have in their Statement of Faith), and Jesus is the same today as He was yesterday (Heb. 13:8), and because Christians are part of His Body (Col. 1:18), and the Apostle John, more than 60 years after the Resurrection states that we're to walk just like Jesus walked (1st Jn. 2:6; 93 AD), shouldn't Christians be walking out their faith in Christ the same Way He walked out His faith in His Father? (cf. 1st Cor. 4:16-17; 11:1; Eph. 5:1; Phil. 3:17) Aren't Christians part of Israel? (cf. Jn. 10:16; Rom. 11:11f.; Gal. 6:16; Eph. 2:11ff.)

This means we should keep all the laws and rules of Moses that apply to any one of us, as there are laws for only women (e.g. Lev. 12), and laws for only the High Priest of Israel (cf. Lev. 21), etc. In other words, not all Mosaic Law applies to every Christian, and the same was true for Jesus and Paul, but the Four Pillars of Mosaic Law; the 7th day Sabbath, the Feasts of Israel, the Mosaic Dietary laws and Tithing apply to everyone. This isn't "works righteousness," using the Law to gain salvation along with faith in Christ. It's God's Christian lifestyle for us (cf. Rom. 3:20, 31; 7:12, 14, 16). Once saved, does it matter if we sin? Paul says it does matter (cf. Rom. 6:1-3f.). So please, tell me if you can, what is Paul's specific definition of sin, because if you can't, then you are certainly sinning against Jesus in your ignorance and you are leading others astray by your Roman Catholic, "now" Protestant/Charismatic lifestyle.

When the Reformers (i.e. Protestants) like Martin Luther and John Calvin, began their righteous protesting, they didn't realize that illicit SEX was a heretical Catholic theological tradition that nullified God's Word for Christian lifestyle. That's why illicit SEX became part of Protestantism, without the least bit of scrutiny. That's why today, your Church teaches Rome's heretical Days and Ways to its people, and that is why you walk in illicit SEX (even if you keep the 7th day Sabbath).

The Apostle John, in Revelation (95 AD), wrote about the Harlot, and ironically enough, all the Reformers taught that Rome was the Harlot (Rev. 17:1, 15). John said, "And I heard another Voice from Heaven saying, "Come out of Her MY people! Lest you share in Her sins and receive of Her plagues!" (Rev. 18:4) The "Her" is the Roman Catholic Church, and "MY people" are Christians who walk in Rome's Days and Ways. Even if you've never set foot inside a Catholic church you're an honorary Catholic because of your Catholic lifestyle (cf. Rom. 6:13-14). You need to leave the anti-Jesus Catholic lifestyle before you "receive of Her plagues." This Grand Deception, lasting over 1,900 years now, didn't take God by surprise. He speaks of it in Daniel 7:25:

"He (the Pope) shall speak blasphemous words against the Most High God. He shall persecute the saints" (i.e. Christians) "of the Most High God" (Rome's persecution and MURDER of millions of Protestant Christians is well documented; Google it or read Dave Hunt's book, A Woman Rides the Beast), "and he (the Pope) shall intend to change" (the) "times" (i.e. the 7th day Sabbath and the Feasts of Israel), "and" (the) "Law" (of Moses). "Then the saints" (Christians) "shall be given into his hand for a time and times and half a time." (For more on Rome and Her myriad of abominable heresies that many Christians walk in, see Alexander Hislop's Christian classic, The Two Babylons—The Full Hislop at <http://seedofabraham.net/The-Two-Babylons.pdf>.)

Isn't it time for you to leave the foul and polluted waters of Christian Tradition that nullify Jesus' lifestyle for you? Let the Holy Spirit lead you to God's Oasis of pure and undefiled Waters. If you have any questions about our faith walk in Jesus, through all the rules of Mosaic Law that apply to us, let me know. I hope that you can hear the Voice of Jesus in what I've presented. Don't shut the door in His face.
